No Special Legislative Session Report Required for First Called Special Session

No Special Legislative Session Report is required for the first special legislative session of the 88th Legislature due to the timing of the July Semiannual report.

Generally, a report of contributions accepted during the special legislative session reporting period is required within 30 days after the date of final adjournment. However, no special session report is required if a regular campaign finance report is due within 10 days of the Special Legislative Report. Since the 2023 July Semiannual report covers the entire special session reporting period and was due before the Special Session Report would have been due, no Special Legislative Session Report is required for first called special legislative session.

A Special Legislative Session Report is required for the second called special legislative session. Details of that report, due August 14, are provided in a separate notice. See <https://www.ethics.state.tx.us/data/filinginfo/NTF/2023/NoticeToFile-88SS-2ndCalled.pdf>
